My beloved child ...

I have created you, so that you can have a life of joy as a part of my family.

I am perfect love and perfect life.

Unfortunately, people were not willing to accept the fact that I, as creator, am the ruler of creation.

And by turning to pride, disobedience and the desire to make it on his own, everyone is running from me – just like a rebellious child.

By this separation from me, you have permanently departed from real love and real life. Nothing else remains – except death, self-centeredness, fear, sorrow, hate, bitterness, lies, jealousy, greed, failure. You have given over yourself to a relentless master.

So even the good that you try to do by your own strength or your religious zeal will always end tragically. You miss your unique destiny that I once had for you and you have no way to return to me by your own effort – just as you cannot pull yourself out of the mire.

As your creator and father, I know best how the universe, the earth and your life work.

All the bad things people experience are the result of trying to handle their lives and the world without me.

That works just as well as when a toddler tries to drive a racing car with 1000 HP. Either it will not move at all or there will be many accidents and chaos.

Probably, you have already experienced both.

But you are very important to me. I want YOU in my family – not just somebody. And since you cannot come to me, I decided to come to you. My son JESUS came to earth as a man and lived a completely faultless and righteous life.

You could never be able to live such a life on your own. Guilt is like an incurable virus, a slaveholder, that will totally oppress and enslave everyone. Although Jesus was righteous, he paid for the rebellion of all humankind by dying on a cross – innocently. He received all torment and hell that everyone, whether consciously or unconsciously, had chosen.

But death could not hold Jesus. After three days he rose from the dead. Now he sits next to me and reigns forever. He will return soon, will judge and restore the earth. He is the door to me. Now you also can receive the life that he deserved. Everything is paid for.

So, what do I ask you to do right now?

Please, leave your rebellion towards me. Give up your self-determination and surrender to my son Jesus. He will then deliver you from your moribund life and all your mistakes, guilt and faults.

Through you, he will live out his righteous life. You will live by HIS power, follow him and grow more and more into his character. Trust him completely! Freedom, real love and everlasting life will belong to you.

You are far too precious to get lost – and you also do not have to. Therefore, I ask you to come back to me and to enter the life that you were meant to live from the beginning. I love you.

*Your Father God,
Creator of the Universe*

PS: How to become practical...

Ask Jesus for forgiveness. Break ties with your past radically, for example:

„Jesus, I need you. I have lived on my own so far. Please forgive me! Forgive me also for ... (be specific). I believe that you are the Son of God, that you died on the cross for my sins and that you conquered death. I accept you as my redeemer and king. My life is no longer mine but belongs to you.“

Let's build a relationship! Get a bible first. Then start reading it daily, getting to know me better. It is best to start with the four gospels (e.g. Matthew). From now on, plan your day with me. Talk to me and experience how I answer you. By the way – that is what some people call “prayer”.

Break radically with your past. Forgive others, let go of bad habits, separate from everything that is contrary to me! My grace will empower you to do so.

Find a Christian community or a church where people believe what is written in the bible and act accordingly. My children aren't lone rangers, but they need encouragement and community. Ask me for help in finding one.

Let yourself be baptized. So, everyone can see that you belong to me now.

Ask me to fill you with my power – the Holy Spirit. This way, you will not only become a new person inside, but you will also get equipped for a powerful life in your daily routine.

Don't only become a strong follower of Jesus, but pass the good news of Jesus on to others too. Tell them what he did for you. If they also want to follow Jesus, train them and help them along this path.

But what if that person, who actually has the most to do,
would take time for you?"
